memo
We regret to inform you that search cannot be made in the Cts of 1851 for a record of the age of G. W. until you furnish us with fuller particulars as to his place of residence in that year. The name "Carrickcastle" (under the forms Carrigeastle, Carrowcastle &c) is a fairly common old name in Ireland, and you do not ever specify the county in which it is situated. If you cannot supply the names of the Bar & Parish in which it lies please give the names of some places adjoining or some town near it, anything in fact which will help us to identify it. Are you quite certain your father was a journeyman 80 years ago? If he was only a child at the time you should furnish us with the names of his parents.
